The 2012 growing season marked the second year of replicated field research conducted at the Soybean Management Field Day sites. The Soybean Management Field Day Research Update sessions will provide the latest information and yield results gathered from on-farm field day locations.

The Soybean Management Field Days in August provide an opportunity to hear from experts who share their knowledge and experiences as they relate to soybean production, marketing and management. Arrangements were made with four soybean producers to plant seven replicated trials on each of their center pivot irrigated fields. University of Nebraska faculty will share and discuss yield results at each of the Research Update locations.

A complimentary meal is included. To RSVP or for more information, contact the Nebraska Soybean Board at (800)852-BEAN, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension at (800)529-8030, or the respective host county Extension office at the number listed the back of this brochure.

Funding for this effort was provided by the Nebraska Soybean Board.
